

BUTLER'S BROADWAY BLESSINGS

"REACH FOR THE STARS!"

Volume 1, Issue 3
September 6, 2010

Note from the Teacher

I trust you and your child are spending a lot of quality time reading. Reading is essential to learning. Please continue to focus on having them identify environmental words and learning their popcorn words to help build their vocabulary. This weeks popcorn words:

am, sat, mat, as

We will have a written spelling test this week. We will learn one of the Ten Commandments in order each week until we have completed all ten. The students should be able to verbally recite the commandment by each Friday.

L.A/Reading

This week we will continue learning our vowels and the letters r, h, and n. Our story this week is "Here Are My Hands".

Science/Health

In Science, we will learn about parts of a plant.

What Can the Parents Do to Help?

- Please read at least one book or listen to your child read to you every night.
- Check and sign your child's homework folder every night
- If you are sending money, please label what it is for and place it inside your child's folder
- Help your child practice tying their shoes (I would like for every child to know how to tie their shoes before the Christmas holidays).

"In the long run, men only hit what they aim at."
