Challenge:

Math

The students will begin our discussion on geometric shapes. The students will be able to identify all the different 2 dimensional shapes, and their properties. Students will also know how to use directional words to move an object.

Reading

The students will be reading their short story books:

We will be reading short stories and discussing them with partners.

Within these stories, students will be discussing plot, character, problems, and setting. These stories are designed to be more level based.

Teacher's Corner

Dear Parents,

This week is the Black History Bowl, and I hope to see all of you there. The students have been working hard on their timelines and questions to make you all proud.

Thanks,
Mr. Zebro

Writing

Students will be keeping a journal. Our journal should follow our theme, with some free writing. During this theme the students will be making up problems they could read in a story and then try different solutions.

Science

SW discuss Chapter 4: Living Things

Students will be finishing our discussion about the difference between living and non-living things. Students will be writing about what they need to do to keep their plants alive. Students will write about what they do to keep their plants alive in the classroom.
